

Washington University in St. Louis FERPA Studies Exception Agreement

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. §1232g, is a Federal privacy law. The Washington University in St. Louis FERPA policy can be found here. FERPA and its implementing regulations in 34 CFR part 99 protect the privacy of students' education records and affords students who attend an institution of postsecondary education certain rights to inspect and review education records, to seek to amend these records, and to consent to the disclosure of personally identifiable information (PII) from education records. The general rule under FERPA is that PII from education records cannot be disclosed without written consent. However, FERPA includes several exceptions that permit the disclosure of PII from education records without consent. This document is based on requirements specified in the implementing regulations (34 CFR Part 99) and will be retained to confirm compliance with those requirements.
